

Eggs 'n Honey Homestead Garlic Cultivation WORKshop Series

Eggs 'n Honey Homestead is looking for individuals to participate in a garlic WORKshop. We are dedicated to growing nutrient dense, poison free food, and promoting knowledge with hands-on work experience.

This workshop will span the garlic cultivation and harvest season. You will participate in sustainable and regenerative practices in farming and learn land stewardship principles while growing gourmet German Purple Hard-neck Garlic.

You will: assist with planting, cultivating, maintaining and harvesting the garlic crops using organic and regenerative practices; Support farm infrastructure maintenance, including irrigation, composting, weeding, and tool care; Uphold farm safety protocols.

No prior farm experience needed, just a strong interest in nutrient dense, poison-free garlic.

You will learn how to:

- Select the right garlic seed,
- Prepare the soil, plant seed and provide proper mulch/seasonal care,
- Judge and execute watering and weeding needs,
- Carry out harvesting techniques,
- Use and store the whole garlic plant.

Workshop size is limited to six people. $25.00 per individual/ workshop. Payable in cash or barter.

Dates and times:

October 25th 10am to 12 noon	Workshop #1: Seed selection and land preparation
November 8th 10am to 12 noon	Workshop #2: Seed planting, mulching and seasonal care
March 21st 10am to 12 noon	Workshop #3: Judge and execute watering and weeding needs (and scapes workshop #3b time TBD mid June)
July 15th 10am to 12 noon	Workshop #4: Carry out Harvesting techniques along with use and storage of the garlic plant

Weeding, watering and additional mulch application times beyond workshop dates TBD.

Supplies needed: Work clothes, boots and gloves. Be prepared to get your hands in the soil and participate in the process.

You will receive: hands-on learning experience, organic compost, a share of garlic harvest.

Call/text 585-880-5721, or email celestearlie@yahoo.com or visit us at 6361 State Route 53, Prattsburgh, NY 14873 to register.